HE MUST BE A MAN OF METTLE,

And His Temper Will be Tried by the Animals in the Bear Garden.

THE RANDALLITES GETTING BOLDER,

They Will be Heard From on All Tariff Legislation in the Future.

The Speaker of the next Congress, it is expected, will have a bear garden to control. Much bitter feeling is bound to arise over the contests that are sure to be decided by the majority in favor of strengthening that majority. Just which one of the avowed candidates would make the best tariff legislation than it had during the talk over the Mills bill.

PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1 WASHINGTON, February 14.-Probably the qualification of candidates for Speakership been discussed more critically than at the present time, when a new Congress might almost be said to be on the eve of an extra session, under circumstances that may try to the utmost the good temper and patience of both political parties. No one now doubts that there will be an extra session. President-elect Harrison has given his opinion on that subject freely in favor of a called session, to convene no later than the first week in May.

One of the first duties of the dominating party in the new Congress will be to decide election contests for the purpose of strength-ening the majority. Even Democrats ad-mit that many of the certificates given to candidates of their party were probably influenced to some extent by the extreme closeness of the elections. But here is just where the rub will begin.

THE QUESTION OF JUSTICE has never had much influence in the determination of contests, no matter which party had the majority, evidence of which was given no longer ago than yesterday, in the lecision in the Smalls case.

Therefore, while the Republicans will be determined to add to their number the candidate of their party, in every contest where there is a shadow of excuse for so doing, the Democrats will resist to the utmost on account of the closeness of the party vote and the advantage they will have in compelling compromises on political questions so long as they can maintain a minority only two or three votes short of the majority. To carry out their scheme they will filibuster against the decision of contests in every case where it is apparent that the Republicans will, as a body, support the admission of their own contestant. This will undoubtedly lead to scenes of great disorder, and if a Speaker be in the chair who lacks the qualities of a fine parliamentarian and of a commander of men, developed in the high-est degree, there will be confusion worse

A GROUP HARD TO BEAT. It would be hard to find a group of men who would average better in these qualities than the half-dozen prominent candidates for Speaker now before the country. Messrs. McKinley, Cannon, Burrows, Bayne, Reed d Henderson, of Iowa, are all admitted each day will present the probability of a tremendous row, is a question which the Republicans of the next Congress who are 12:45, and the House then adjourned. members of this Congress are trying to solve.

Personal considerations and sectional lines will apparently have less influence than was at first intimated. The sole purpose will be to choose that man who will be most surely master of the situation as it is forecast by the grave features of the case who will be always cool and fearless, and who will not hesitate to promptly put unruly the slightest wish or desire on the part of members under arrest if that should be nec-

He declared on his responsibility as an American Senator that the re- Condensed Special Dispatches From Surport of the committee was unjust, one-sided and partisan. If the committee had been prosecutors instead of judges, the inculpatory testimony could not have been more thoroughly congregated in the report, nor the exculpatory testimony more thoroughly excluded. The Senate and the country should recollect in reading the report that it was politics. It was based principally on the testimony of the three memorialists, Hackworth, Moore and Schutze, and took no note of the testimony of 27 witnesses to the effect that Hackworth and Schutze were men of infamous character and unworthy o eredit, and that Moore was about as bad as the others. He condemned, as the people of Washington county and of Texas condemned, all violations of law there, and de-clared that the attempt to fix responsibility for them on that people had no support ex-cept the testimony of "the infamous trio and some of their vilest condittators."

These three had tried to make it appear that they were forced to leave the county on account of their politics, while the fact was, Mr. Coke asserted, that they had left it because they were regarded as moral lepers, unfit for decent association. He would prove that by reference to the testimony of witnesses which had not been recited in the report of the committee. He declared that when the memorialists lost the public offices which they had held in the county they were covered all over with indictments for official mal essane

Mr. Coke sent to the clerk's desk and had read the counter-memorial of the citizens of Brenham, painting in very dark colors the characters o "Hackworth and Schutze, denying all their material allegations, and pre-senting the Democratic side of the troubles in Washington county. He also sent to the clerk's desk and had read testimony in corroboration of this counter-memorial. With-out concluding his speech, Mr. Coke yielded

WASHINGTON, February 14.-During pervising Architect's office to-day, Thomas D. Eisler, chief clerk, refused to answer questions concerning contributions for political purposes, and the committee recommended that he be made to do so.

Mr. W. A. Freret, Jr., son of the Super-vising Architect, said he was not an architect, but he hoped to be, and he had been studying for two years. He was asked about the plans for the public building at Ottumwa, Iowa. He had worked on the plans for the building, and had received as-sistance from other draughtsmen in the

THE RANDALL FACTION BOLDER. It Reasserts Itself Somewhat Since the Late Elections. ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, February 14 .- It is evilent that the closing fortnight of the Fiftieth Congress will be marked by some | tion to-day Colonel Richard T. Auchmuty, lively work over the revenue measures. The of New York, founder of the Mechanical treatment of the Cowles bill for the removal of Trade School in that city, delivered an adthe tobacco tax and the re-enactment of meas- dress on "Trade Training." He spoke of ures affecting the manufacture and taxing of the mechanical trades and the men who do whisky, in the Committee on Appropri- the different kinds of work. He said that ations to-day, indicates a determination on the opposition of the unions to education of the part of that committee to report the bill favorably and push it rapidly to some conclusion. At the same time, the Committee on Ways and Means will report the tariff bill as amended by the Senate, in a form which will in some sense be a compromise measure. It will contain the provisions of the Mills bill which have been incorporated into the Cowles bill, and thus one measure will, to some extent, antagonize the other.

The Cowles bill, as it will be reported from the Committee on Appropriations, will Speaker is now puzzling Repubrican lead-ers. The Randall faction is bolder since the interested in the repeal of the tobacco elections. It will have more to say about | tax, because tobacco-growing is the great industry among their constituents. The lead-ers in the support of the bill among the Democrats will be the Randall faction, which is bold enough to assert itself since the elections. They will take the ground that it will be impossible to enact anything in the way of tariff legislation this session, never before in the history of Congress have the qualification of candidates for Speaker-taxation it must be accomplished by means of a separate bill, like the Cowles measure, and not by measures that must stand or fall with tariff legislation which meets the approval of the Mills-Breckinridge-McMillen

Whether the latter will persist in antago-nizing the Cowles bill, despite the general desire throughout the South for its passage, is a matter which can only be decided when the fight begins. The feeling is quite bitter between the two committees, and there is no guessing what effect it will have on the proposed revenue legislation.

NEW MEXICO MUST WAIT AWHILE. The House Instructs Its Conferees to Agree With the Sennte's Action.

WASHINGTON, February 14. - Mr. Springer, of Illinois, called up in the House the conference report on the Senate bill for the admission of the State of South Dakota. The report, which reports a total disagreement, was agreed to. Mr. Springer moved that the House insist on its amendments and ask for another conference. This motion having been agreed to, Mr. Baker, of New York, offered a resolution giving the House conferees the following instructions:

House conferees the following instructions:
First—To exclude the Territory of New Mexico from the bill.
Second—To amend the bill so as to provide for the admission of South Dakota by proclamation of the President under the Sioux Falls Constitution. To be resubmitted to the people of South Dakota with provision for a new election of State and federal officers, and without a new vote on the question of division.
Third—That the proposed States of North Dakota, Montana and Washington shall be admitted on the same basis, either all by proclamation of the President or all by formal acts of admission.

Mr. Cox, of New York, offered a substitute for the resolution, differing only from Mr. Baker's proposition in that it provides for the admission of North Dakota, Montana and Washington by proclamation of the President. He earnestly favored the immodiate admission of these Targitories. It mediate admission of these Territories. It was clear that the Senate would not agree to | Pennsylvania road. the admission of New Mexico, notwithstand ing that it was, in his opinion, a Republi-can Territory. Pennsylvania Road Charged With Sending Grain Trade Elsewhere.

NEW YORK, February 14.-The direct connection of the railroads with the recentlydiscovered increase in the movement of grain from other ports than New York, was brought into strong light to-day by the discovery that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has quietly made arrangements with the Hamburg-American Packet Company to run a semi-monthly line of freight steamships direct between Baltimore and Hamburg. The first steamer sails from Baltimore to-day.
